My name is Paul and I will tell you about a big change in my life. I moved out of my family home and I started living in London. It was a hard decision. I liked living with my parents, but I'd finished university and I was looking for a job. One bank in London offered me a good one. I decided to take up this job. I also rented a flat in London and started living on my own.

Actually, finding a flat in London was a challenge. I surfed the Internet and looked through lots of advertisements in newspapers. I was already starting to lose hope when my cousin Mark told me about his friends from London. They were going abroad for a year and wanted to let out their flat. Immediately I went to see them. The flat was ideal. I signed the rental contract on the same day.

The flat is quite small, but it suits me. There is just one bedroom, a living room, a kitchen and a bathroom. Right before I moved in, Mark's friends had painted it, so the walls are clean. The only problem at the beginning was that the rooms were empty. Actually, there were cupboards, a modern cooker and a fridge in the kitchen, but the rooms had no furniture. I had to buy a bed, a table, a wardrobe and many more before I moved in.

The flat is in the centre so I expected to pay at least 1200 pounds. To my surprise, the rent is only 800 pounds a month. Of course, gas, electricity and Internet service are paid extra, but they are never higher than 200 pounds. So, it's quite cheap. I am satisfied with this flat and for at least a year I am not going to change it.

Ann: Hi, Frank. Are you coming to the yoga class with me this evening?

Frank: Yes, I finish work at half past four today, so I can join you. The class is at half past six, isn't it?

A: Yes, it is, and it's only forty-five minutes long, so we should be home by eight.

F: OK. What do I need to bring?

A: Just sports clothes and a pair of comfortable shoes. As for the mat, you don't need to bring one because there are enough mats for everyone in the club. But you must have something to drink. There isn't a vending machine with soft drinks in the club.

F: I'm not very fit. Is that a problem?

A: No, there are people of all ages there and lots of them aren't very fit. But, just in case, we'll tell the instructor that you've never been to yoga before.

F: Good idea. And how much does one yoga class cost?

A: It was five pounds thirty, but the price has changed lately. Now each class costs six pounds thirty. It's still quite cheap because other clubs offer yoga classes for minimum eight pounds.

F: OK, shall I come to your house at six?

A: Well, I'm going straight from work so I won't be home. Let's meet at the entrance to the club. Do you know where it is?

F: Is it next to the Rose Café we went to last week?

A: Exactly, you'll find it easily. I will be waiting for you in the street, in front of the club.

F: OK, see you there then.

A: See you.

Ladies and gentlemen, welcome on board the British Airways flight to New York. Please, place all hand luggage in the overhead compartments or under the seat in front of you. We ask you to fasten your seatbelts and, for safety reasons, keep them fastened during the flight. The flight will take about 8 hours. We also ask you to make sure your seats and table trays are in the upright position for take-off. Please, turn off all personal electronic devices, including laptops and cell phones.

Ladies and gentlemen, read the safety instructions card which is in the pocket of the seat in front of you. There are six emergency exits on this aircraft, all marked with exit signs. Take a minute to find the exit closest to you. Remember that the nearest exit may be behind you.

In the pocket of the seat in front of you, you will also find a list of films to watch and information about our shop. Today we have lower prices on watches, so feel free to ask our staff if you want to buy something.

If you need anything, please push the button for service. It is in the panel above you. When we are flying at 10000 feet, we will start serving drinks. And about an hour later we will serve dinner. Today you have a choice of chicken or pasta.

Please remain in your seats and keep your seatbelts fastened at all times. If we hit any turbulence the sign "Fasten your Seatbelts" will come on.

We will land in New York at 7.20 p.m.. Currently, the weather in New York is good with temperatures reaching 26 degrees Celsius. But later at night it may rain.

And now, please relax and enjoy the flight. Thank you for your attention. This was your chief flight attendant speaking.

Sandra: Hi Ben, good to see you! So, now after the promotion ceremony we are finally US fighter pilots. Where will you serve? Do you know?

Ben: Oh, hi Sandra. Yes, I know all about it. My dream came true – I'm going to Japan for a year.

S: Japan, great! You've always wanted to serve there. But which military base is it going to be?

B: I'll serve on Okinawa Island in Kadena Air Base.

S: Okinawa, eh? Lucky you! It's a famous place. But how about the very base? What's it called again? Ah, yes – Kadena base. Is it big?

B: Yes, it's the biggest US Air base in the Pacific region.

S: Really? But why did you want to go there?

B: My grandpa served on this island just after the Second World War. And later my dad was stationed on Okinawa when he was a young pilot.

S: Oh, I see, so there's a family history behind your transfer there.

B: Yes, there is and I'm very proud of it. But what about you Sandra? What are your plans?

S: Well, I'm staying in the USA. I've got a post on the Air Force base in San Antonio, Texas.

B: So, it's Texas then. I guess we won't see each other for a long time, eh?

S: No, we certainly won't. But we'll stay in touch online as always.

B: Sure thing. Good luck then and see you on Messenger soon.

Hello listeners! Today I'll be talking about countries which have most military bases located outside their territories. The leader, as you all know, is the USA. There are 759 US bases in 80 countries all over the world. Yes, you heard me right 759.

The second country with many bases abroad is the United Kingdom. The UK has 60 military bases on several continents.

The third place on the list belongs to Well, no, it doesn't belong to Russia as you may think. The third on our list is Saudi Arabia. Why? Because Saudi Arabia has 21 overseas military bases. Surprising news for many of you, isn't it?

Russia is number four on the list. That's because now Russia has only 12 military bases outside its territory. Next comes France with five military bases abroad.

There are several other countries which have overseas military bases, such as: India, the United Arab Emirates, Turkey, Italy or Australia. And what about China? Well, at present China has only one military base abroad. The only Chinese base is in Djibouti in East Africa. But it may change soon because of China's recent expansion on the African continent.
